Automatic cover

When you become eligible (or elect to have cover) you will automatically be provided with the insurance design your employer has selected for your plan.

You may be provided with either:

- Death cover only;
- Death and Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) cover; or
- Death, TPD and Temporary Disability (TDI) cover,

depending on the design chosen by your employer. Your sum insured (the dollar value you are insured for) will be determined by one of the methods outlined in the table below. You can see the design that applies to you in your welcome letter.

| Cover provided by your employer | Insurance design options available | Example of insurance provided to a 50 year old, salary of $100,000 pa, plan expiry age 70 (Death cover) and 65 (TPD cover) |
|---|--|---|
| Death cover only* (including Terminal Illness) *The cover you receive automatically will always be greater than the levels shown in the Minimum Death cover for employee members section. | 1. A lump sum amount calculated using a percentage of your salary for each year (and complete months) left until the plan expiry age. | 25% of salary. • Death cover sum insured will be: $(25\% \times $100,000) \times 20 \text{ years} = $500,000$ • TPD cover sum insured will be: $(25\% \times $100,000) \times 15 \text{ years} = $375,000$ |
| | OR | |
| | 2. Multiples of salary. | 3 multiples of salary. Sum insured is: $3 \times $100,000 = $300,000$ |
| OR Death and Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) cover (including Terminal Illness) | 3. Fixed cover (a fixed sum insured). | Employer selects a set amount of insurance, eg $400,000. |
| For permanent employees working at least 15 hours per week only: | | |
| Temporary Disability (TDI) cover | 75% of salary. | Sum insured is a monthly payment (for the agreed benefit period) of: $(75\% \times $100,000) \div 12 = $6,250$ This payment may be offset by other income you receive at the same time you are receiving benefit payments. See your welcome letter for details. |
| | Your employer may also choose to include the Superannuation Contribution Benefit. | |
| | Up to 15% of salary. | Employer selects 12%. The sum insured calculated above will be increased by: $(12\% \times 100,000) \div 12 = $1,000$ The total cover for Temporary Disability will be: $$6,250 + $1,000 = $7,250$ |

Please note: These are examples only. The actual amount of cover you are provided will be detailed in your welcome letter or insurance confirmation letter.

When you'll get cover

You get cover when you turn 25, you have an account balance of $6,000 and your account has received a contribution (or rollover) in the last 16 months. This is subject to you meeting any other eligibility requirements and there are enough funds in your account to pay your insurance fees.

Insurance in super

Including insurance in your super account can be an effective way of financially protecting you and your family should you die or become disabled.

SignatureSuper's insurance is designed for you as an employee and negotiated by your employer while also offering advantages of cover for your family. It means you can:

- ✓ have insurance fees deducted from your SignatureSuper account (if not paid for by your SignatureSuper employer) so you won't be dipping into your take-home pay
- ✓ apply for additional insurance cover to meet your personal needs
- ✓ have Interim Accident cover while you wait for any applications for cover to be assessed (where available for your plan).

Employee members may also have the advantage of:

- ✓ corporate insurance fees which are generally cheaper than personal insurance fees
- ✓ not having to provide evidence of health, through automatic acceptance limits (AAL) where eligible.

Insurance provides an important benefit to many members. Having insurance in your super means the cost of your cover will reduce your super balance over time. It's important for you to regularly review the amount and cost of your current insurance cover to make sure it's right for you, and consider discussing your insurance needs with a financial adviser.

Your insurance needs will change

It's a good idea to keep on top of your insurance needs. Because, as life changes (like if you purchase a home or have children) your insurance needs might too. Also, the cost of your cover may change as you age or if you change jobs. It's important to keep reviewing your cover to make sure it continues to be right for you.

Your SignatureSuper insurance is flexible to meet your changing needs. You can apply to increase your default cover. You can also reduce or cancel some or all of your default cover at any time. Find out more in the Managing your cover section.

A financial adviser can help you work out your insurance needs. The calculator shown below might also be a good place to start too.

What is Putting Members' Interests First (PMIF)?

Insurance in super is subject to laws to ensure affordability and eligibility. To be eligible for cover, you must:

- be at least 25 years old
- have a super balance of at least $6,000, and
- have had a contribution put into your account within the last 16 months, unless you elect to have cover earlier.

You can let us know you'd like cover at amp.com.au/getinsurance.

Your insurance cover

How employee cover works

Standard cover

Standard cover refers to the way Death and TPD cover amounts are calculated and usually consists of a formula. Your SignatureSuper employer has decided on the standard cover formula that applies to your membership category and this is shown in your welcome letter.

The value of your standard cover is calculated:

- when you join your employer plan
- at your most recent annual review
- when you change your multiple of the standard cover
- on your death, or
- on the last day of work if you are making a TPD claim.

Default cover

Where the insurer has agreed to provide default insurance to members of your SignatureSuper employer plan, you'll be automatically provided with cover, subject to meeting the necessary criteria.

When you turn 25 and have an account balance of $6,000, your default insurance will be applied automatically, assuming all other eligibility criteria are met.

If you are not eligible for default cover under super law but you tell us that you'd like insurance within 120 days of joining your employer, the insurer can provide cover without needing any health information. If you tell us after 120 days of joining your employer, you will need to answer health and lifestyle questions.

The default cover will be provided up to the automatic acceptance limit (AAL). Where the amount of cover exceeds the AAL, acceptance by the insurer will be required. The default cover you are eligible for is shown in your welcome letter.

How standard cover and default cover are calculated

Example

John is an employee member of the XYZ plan. John has a salary of $50,000 pa. The standard cover formula selected by the SignatureSuper employer for the XYZ plan is three times salary. The default cover multiple selected by the SignatureSuper employer for the XYZ plan is two times the standard cover.

Standard cover = $150,000 (ie 3 x $50,000)

Default cover = $300,000 (ie 2 x $150,000)

John's insurance cover will be equal to the default cover of $300,000.

Please note: The above example is an illustration only and is based on the factors given. The example should not be taken as the actual amount of standard and default cover you will receive.

Minimum Death cover for employee members

We'll monitor your default Death cover to make sure it doesn't fall below minimum Government requirements for employee members, depending on your age.

The minimum doesn't apply if you've cancelled or reduced your cover. Any change to your cover may also affect your fees. The amount of your insurance cover is shown on your insurance confirmation letter or your latest member statement.

| Age range | Minimum ($) |
|-------------|--------------|
| 20-34 | 50,000 |
| 35-39 | 35,000 |
| 40-44 | 20,000 |
| 45-49 | 14,000 |
| 50-55 | 7,000 |
| 56 and over | Nil |

What happens if your salary changes?

If your cover is based on your salary then updates to your salary could change your cover amounts. Your welcome letter will state when these updates will take effect. It will occur either on your plan's next annual review date, or at intervals between annual reviews. If your cover is not recalculated at intervals between annual reviews, then your cover will not change (even if your salary changes) until the next annual review.

If your cover does increase when it is recalculated because of a salary increase and still remains below your plan's AAL, no underwriting will be required. Where your salary increase results in your cover exceeding your plan's AAL then you will be required to be underwritten by providing information about your health and circumstances.

Commencing cover – Automatic Acceptance Limit (AAL)

The insurer will generally provide automatic acceptance cover, without evidence of health, up to the AAL, if the following applies:

- your plan (or relevant membership category) must have been accepted for an AAL
- you must be an employee of the SignatureSuper employer, and
- you must join the plan (or category) when first meeting General eligibility requirements (see Eligibility for insurance section).

Your SignatureSuper employer must certify these things when they tell us you are joining the plan (or category). If this certification is incorrect, the insurer may have the right to void the insurance cover and refuse to pay any insured amount.

The AAL is the maximum amount of insurance cover the insurer will provide you without the need for you to provide evidence of health to the satisfaction of the insurer.

If you don't meet the above criteria, you'll be asked for information about your health before cover can be provided.

Your cover may require underwriting where your salary/sum insured increases by more than 30% in any 12 month period. Any increase in excess of 30% may be subject to underwriting terms determined by the insurer.

Will you need to provide details of health and circumstances?

If you may not otherwise be eligible to have default cover under super laws but you tell us within 120 of joining your employer that you'd like insurance, we can provide cover on your account without you needing to provide information about your health.

You will not need to provide information about your health and circumstances if:

- an AAL applies to your SignatureSuper plan (or membership category)
- the total cover required does not exceed the AAL for your plan (or membership category), and
- you meet all the eligibility conditions for obtaining AAL cover.

If you do not meet these conditions, you'll need to apply for cover and provide details of your health. The insurer will consider your medical history, your likely future good health, your occupation, lifestyle and family history before deciding whether to accept your application.

The insurer may reject or accept your application subject to conditions, special limits or higher rates.

How you can take out additional cover

You may be able to apply for cover or apply for an increase to your cover if:

- the cover required by you exceeds either the default cover amounts, or the AAL for your plan (or membership category), or
- you do not meet all the eligibility conditions for obtaining AAL cover or your plan (or membership category) does not offer an AAL.

We will advise you in writing if you are required to provide evidence of health and circumstances.

How do you apply for additional cover?

We can send you an additional insurance cover form to complete. You need to be either:

- at work, actively performing your normal duties and work hours, or
- on leave for reasons other than illness or injury.

We will let you know in writing if you need to provide evidence of health and circumstances.

When will your additional cover commence?

If your application is accepted, we will write to you to confirm the increase in cover, the fees that will apply and the date it will commence from. Until then your current level of cover will apply.

While your completed application is being assessed you may have Interim Accident cover if it has been agreed for your plan.

To see the cover that is available to you, check your welcome letter, your member statement or call us.

What if an AAL doesn't apply?

If your plan doesn't have an AAL, or you do not qualify for the AAL, you'll need to apply for cover and provide evidence of insurability including details of your health and circumstances.

Depending on the evidence supplied, cover may be refused, accepted with special limits, or increased rates.

While you are waiting for your application to be assessed, you may have Interim Accident cover.

The underwriting process

Personal statement

Apply for cover, or to increase your existing cover, by completing a personal statement.

Assessment

The insurer will assess your application and will consider factors like your age, gender, occupation, health and lifestyle.

Further information

To complete their assessment, the insurer may ask for more information. This may include medical reports and/or exams.

Decision

The insurer will either:

- accept
- accept with special terms (such as additional costs or cover exclusions), or
- decline your application.

We'll communicate the decision to you.

If your insurance has exclusions or loadings applied you can always ask for the decision to be reviewed at any time, subject to provision of updated information. Upon receipt of your request, the insurer will advise what information is required at the time of review.

How family cover works

If offered, family members can apply for insurance cover in a SignatureSuper plan at any time subject to underwriting and acceptance by the insurer. In some instances family cover is limited to a spouse only. To find out more about family member insurance in your plan, contact us.

All terms, conditions and definitions relating to family member insurance cover are subject to the insurance policy for your SignatureSuper employer plan.

How to apply for family member insurance

If you are part of an employee member's family, and eligible for cover, you can apply for insurance at the time the employee member joins the plan or later. Contact us and we'll send you the application form.

You'll need to provide evidence of your health, as outlined on the application form, so the insurer can assess your application. While your application is being assessed you'll have Interim Accident cover.

As part of your application, you'll be asked to elect to have and keep insurance in your super account, even if you may otherwise be ineligible for insurance under super laws. You can find out more information at amp.com.au/whyinsurance.

Depending on the evidence supplied, the insurer may reject your application or accept it subject to conditions, special limits or higher rates.

If your application is accepted, we'll write to you to confirm your cover and the fees that apply. Your cover commences from the date that the insurer accepts your application.

Death cover is limited to a maximum of $10 million.

What happens if you die?

If you die while you're an insured member of the SignatureSuper plan, your Death cover will be paid (in addition to your super account balance) as part of your death benefit.

When we are notified of your death, your account balance will be switched into Super Cash which is a low-risk investment option. The proceeds of any insurance claim paid by the insurer to us will also be invested in Super Cash. Any death benefit will consist of:

- your super account benefit, plus
- the proceeds of any insurance claim paid by the insurer.

What is the Terminal Illness benefit and when is it paid?

The Terminal Illness benefit is an early payment of Death cover if you suffer a terminal illness.

The Terminal Illness cover paid is the lesser of the insured Death cover or $3 million. So the maximum amount the insurer will pay is $3 million. If your Death cover is more than this, then the insurer will pay any further Death cover when you die.

We reduce the Death cover and TPD cover by the amount of any Terminal Illness cover that is paid.

The benefit amount paid to you will be calculated on the date you are last certified as suffering from a terminal illness.

If a Terminal Illness claim is accepted, the insurer will pay the insured amount to us and we'll invest this benefit in Super Cash, which is a low-risk investment option. Then, subject to you having satisfied a condition of release under super law, we'll make the proceeds available to you as a lump sum.

Who gets my super if I die?

Super is not automatically included in your will, so it's important to let us know who you'd like to get your death benefit. You can do this by nominating a beneficiary(ies).

You can find more information about the types of beneficiaries, and how to make a nomination in the Nominating your beneficiaries section in the member guide.

Or you can make a nomination in My AMP.

If you don't make a nomination or you cancel your existing nomination and don't make a new one, we must pay your death benefit to your estate.

Differences between the insurance policy and super law

Under super law, a member who is certified by two doctors (one who is a specialist in the field of the insured member's illness) as having a life expectancy of 24 months or less from the date of certification, will be considered to have met a Terminal Medical condition of release. However, a Terminal Illness benefit may not be payable under the policy until your life expectancy is 12 months or less. Therefore, if you have met a condition of release and choose to withdraw your full balance, your super account will be closed and any insurance you held through your account will be cancelled. Your insurance policy has a different certification period for terminal illness, which is 12 months. If you close your account between the 24 and 12 month period, you will not be paid a Terminal Illness benefit and if you subsequently die, your beneficiaries will not be able to claim against any insurance (as it's cancelled).

Before closing your account, you should seek financial and tax advice to ensure you fully understand the impact on your ability to claim. If you leave your super account open with sufficient funds to pay your ongoing insurance fees, your cover will continue. If you subsequently meet the definition of terminal illness (your life expectancy is 12 months or less) under the insurance policy, you will be able to claim against your insurance policy.

If your Death cover commenced prior to 1 July 2014 and you have continuously held Death cover since, you should note that the trustee can only pay the Terminal Illness benefit in accordance with the super rules. These rules mean there may be some instances where the trustee will not be able to pay a Terminal Illness benefit directly to you. The insurer will pay it to your super account if you do not satisfy a terminal medical condition of release (see Accessing your super section in the member guide).

What is excluded in your Death cover?

Unfortunately, there are specific circumstances in which a benefit will not be payable.

Please refer to your welcome letter for the specific exclusions which apply to your employer plan.

TOTAL AND PERMANENT DISABLEMENT (TPD) COVER

TPD cover is a lump sum amount paid if you become totally and permanently disabled.

Maximum amount of TPD cover

TPD cover is generally limited to a maximum of $3 million. The maximum cover limit applicable to you is set out in your welcome letter.

Your TPD cover will automatically decrease as you get older

In most cases, TPD cover for your plan will automatically reduce as you get older.

If your TPD cover is defined as a fixed dollar amount or a fixed multiple of salary (and unless otherwise agreed with your employer), the TPD sum insured will automatically decrease by 20% each year from when you are 61.

See your welcome letter for the details that apply to you.

Other important information about TPD Cover

TPD cover is only available with Death cover and cannot be for an amount greater than your Death cover.

TPD cover generally has a six-month waiting period, that is, six consecutive months following the date of claim.

What is excluded in your TPD cover?

Unfortunately there are specific circumstances in which a TPD benefit will not be payable.

Please refer to your welcome letter for the specific exclusions which apply to your employer plan.

What happens if you become Totally and Permanently Disabled?

If you have TPD cover, you become totally and permanently disabled, the insurer will pay a lump sum amount to your SignatureSuper account which is paid to you in addition to your super balance.

How will your TPD claim be paid?

If your TPD claim is accepted the insurer will pay the TPD insured amount to the trustee who will then deposit it in your account.

1. your account balance will remain in your current superannuation investment options, and
2. your TPD benefit will be invested in Super Cash, a low risk option.

If you're a defined benefit member, your TPD cover may form part of an overall formula benefit and not be paid as an additional amount.

Key information about TPD claims

If an insured TPD benefit is payable, please note:

- payments of any temporary disablement benefit will generally stop (however, some plans may allow temporary disablement benefits to continue to be paid after a benefit is paid), your welcome letter will confirm if this is the case, and
- your Death cover will cease.

Please see the How to make a claim section for further information.

What happens if you are claiming a TPD benefit and you die?

We will pay your insured Death cover. Your TPD claim will be cancelled and your beneficiary(ies) will not be paid a TPD benefit. You will not receive both the insured TPD benefit and the insured death benefit from your SignatureSuper insurance cover.

TEMPORARY DISABILITY COVER

Pays a monthly benefit if you're too injured or sick to work.

What is Temporary Disability Insurance (TDI)?

You're eligible for cover if:

- you're an employee-joined member
- your employer has selected TDI for your membership category, and
- you're a permanent employee, or
- you work at least 15 hours of regular work a week.

Your SignatureSuper employer has selected whether TDI cover applies to your membership category. If TDI cover applies to you, your SignatureSuper employer has also selected:

- the percentage of your income payable as TDI cover
- the waiting period, and
- the benefit period.

See your welcome letter for any details of TDI cover that may apply to you.

Waiting periods and benefit payment periods

Waiting period

A waiting period is the number of continuous days, which must elapse before monthly benefits that will be paid to you begin to accrue. See your welcome letter.

30 days OR 60 days OR 90 days

You don't receive TDI benefit payments during, or for, the waiting period.

The waiting period commences from the later of the date you are first examined and certified by a medical practitioner as totally disabled in relation to an injury or sickness; and the date you ceased work due to that injury or sickness.

Benefit payment period

Your benefit period – the timeframe you'll receive TDI payments for – has been selected by your employer. You can find your benefit period and all the relevant information in your welcome letter.

Up to 2 years OR Up to 5 years OR Up to age 65

Benefits are paid until the end of the benefit payment period, or the date you're no longer eligible for a payment (for example you return to work), whichever comes first.

Benefit payments start one month after the waiting period has ended. Payments are made monthly (one month in arrears).

What will the insurer pay?

TDI cover provides a percentage of your income up to a maximum of 75% (excluding the superannuation contribution benefit) for the applicable benefit payment period should you become unable to work because of illness or injury. The benefit paid is based on your insured level of income on the last day you were at work prior to becoming totally disabled.

The insurer will limit your payment of disability benefits to the applicable maximum monthly benefit as agreed in the policy.

The insurer will pay you the relevant benefit at the end of each month in which you are entitled to be paid a benefit. For part of the month, the insurer will pay you 1/30th of the monthly benefit for each day you are entitled to be paid under the policy.

Where the insurer is required by law to deduct any tax, duty impost or the like in connection with the payment of a benefit, they will deduct the required amount from the payment and forward it to the relevant authority.

Partial disability

The partial disability benefit provides you with a portion of the TDI benefit if:

- after a period of been totally disabled you're partially disabled, and
- you returned to work but earn less because of your illness or injury.

The insurer will pay a partial disability benefit from the end of the waiting period for as long as the circumstances set out below exist, subject to the policy terms and conditions and the maximum benefit period applicable to you if:

- you have resumed employment after a period of at least 14 consecutive days of total disability
- you continue to receive a reduced monthly income, and
- the reduction in monthly income is as a result of being unable to perform the important duties of your occupation.

The amount is calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$\frac{(A - B)}{A} \times C$$

Where:

A = Your restricted monthly income prior to becoming totally disabled.

B = Your current monthly earnings while partially disabled.

C = The TDI cover monthly benefit.

Example 1

John is an employee member of the XYZ plan and his insured income is $100,000 pa. The AAL for the XYZ Plan is $10,000 per month.

This is the amount we base his TDI payments on. He's covered for two years, or 24 months. He has no superannuation contribution cover. He becomes temporarily disabled and claims TDI.

Over 24 months, he receives from TDI:
75% of $100,000 pa of salary = $75,000 or $6,250 / month
= $6,250 / month over two years

Example 2

Brad is an employee member of the ABC plan and his insured income is $400,000 pa. The AAL for the ABC Plan is $25,000 per month.

This is the amount we base his TDI payments on. He's covered for two years, or 24 months. He has no superannuation contribution cover. He becomes temporarily disabled and claims TDI.

Over 24 months, he receives from TDI:
75% of first $320,000 pa of salary = $240,000 or $20,000 / month + 50% of salary above $320,000 pa = $40,000 or $3,333 / month
= $23,333 / month over two years

Please note: The above example are provided by the way of illustration only and are based on the factors given. They shouldn't be taken as the actual amount of TDI benefits you'll receive, as it may be reduced by offsets you receive.

Maximum amount of TDI cover

How we work out your TDI amounts

We use your income to work out your benefit amount.

Your employer provides us your salary at an annual review. The last salary provided before the date you stopped work will be used to calculate your income.

How much your TDI amounts can be

Your welcome letter will tell you what percentage of your income your policy provides cover for. The maximum provided is as a percentage of your salary (this amount is inclusive of any superannuation contribution benefit (SCB) if applicable):

- Up to 75% of the first $480,000 pa of salary earned. Where the monthly benefit is payable on or after your 65th birthday, the monthly benefit will generally be limited to the lesser of up to 75% of your pre-disability income plus SCB if applicable, your sum insured and $10,000 per month.

The maximum insured amount including any SCB can be:

- $30,000 per month.

Please refer to your welcome letter for the maximum TDI benefits payable for your plan.

Benefit offsets – if you receive income from other sources

Payment of TDI benefits will be reduced by any other disability income which you may be entitled to from other sources, whether that income was actually received or not.

Income from other sources that impact temporary disability benefits:

- any disability, injury or sickness benefits from other insurance policies (other than a lump sum total and permanent disability benefit)
- any disability benefits under Workers' Compensation or similar legislation, or common law (excluding payments for medical treatment, rehabilitation, permanent impairment or permanent loss of use of a body part)
- sick leave payments
- any payments for loss of income, earning capacity, or any other economic loss, in relation to your injury or illness

but will exclude:

- income earned from investments, and
- any lump sum total and permanent disablement benefit.

If any of the above payments are paid as a lump sum, the insurer will convert these to a monthly payment of one sixtieth (1/60) of the lump sum payment and reduce benefit entitlements by this amount.

See your welcome letter for the specific offsets which apply to your employer plan.

When your entitlement to workers' compensation payments is in dispute, the insurer will pay the full amount due on a conditional basis until the dispute is resolved. If it turns out you are entitled to workers' compensation payments you must repay that part of representing the compensation proceeds.

The reduction will be sufficient to ensure that the amount the insurer pays, together with the aggregate of other payments or entitlements, will not exceed the insured monthly percentage of your monthly income prior to the occurrence of the disability. This does not affect the operation of the escalation benefit option paid and will not be taken into account for the purposes of reducing disability benefits.

When will TDI be paid to you?

|  Factors must be met These two factors must be met for TDI to be paid: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. You become totally disabled or, you may be entitled to be paid a partial disability benefit if you've had a period of total disability and you've become partially disabled. 2. Your waiting period has expired. Generally, the waiting period starts when you first become unable to work due to illness or injury. Payment of TDI benefits are made in arrears starting one month after your waiting period expires. |
|  Factors that stop payment These factors will result in TDI not being paid: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. If you stop working or go on unpaid leave for reasons other than injury or illness. 2. You'll not be eligible to claim if, during the waiting period, you reach age 65 or the final nominated date for your plan (if earlier than 65). 3. If you return to work during the waiting period for more than 5 consecutive days, the waiting period will restart. 4. If an exclusion applies. |

Escalation/indexation benefit

This is an optional benefit that can be selected by the SignatureSuper employer. Your welcome letter will confirm if this benefit applies to you.

If the insurer has been continuously paying you a monthly benefit for you for 12 months because you are suffering a disability, the insurer will then increase the monthly benefit payable by the lower of the annual percentage increase in the Consumer Price Index, and 5% or 7.5% (as selected by your SignatureSuper employer). The insurer will increase the amount by the same method again after each 12 month period as long as the insurer is still continuously paying a monthly benefit because you are suffering a disability.

When the insurer stops payment to you, the monthly benefit will revert to the monthly benefit determined by the original formula or as otherwise varied from time to time.

Recurrent disability

If your disability recurs within six months of your going back to work full-time, the insurer will treat the disability as a continuation of the original disability. There is no new waiting period so you can claim as soon as the disability recurs. The cause of the disability must be the same or related to the cause for the original claimable disability.

The policy must be in force when the disability recurs. The maximum benefit period will apply to the original disability and each continuation of the original disability combined.

Bereavement benefit

If you die while in receipt of total disability or partial disability benefits, the insurer may pay a lump sum amount equal to three times your monthly benefit from the date of your death.

Return to work during the waiting period

You are permitted to return to work once, performing your usual duties for up to:

- ten consecutive days during the waiting period, where the waiting period is 60 days or more, or
- five consecutive days during the waiting period, where the waiting period is less than 60 days.

Where you return to work during the waiting period for up to five or ten consecutive days, the waiting period will be extended by the total number of days you have attempted to return to work.

Where you return to work during the waiting period for more than five or ten consecutive days, the waiting period starts again.

Superannuation contribution benefit

Put simply this is an additional cover that your employer may provide under your plan.

What this additional cover provides is continued contributions into your super – up to 15% of your salary, which is paid only if you are either totally or partially disabled.

How does it work?

- Your employer chooses the amount of cover, which will be up to 15% of your salary – if applicable, you'll find this in your welcome letter.
- The total insured TDI cover, including SCB, cannot exceed the maximum TDI cover.
- Contribution tax will not apply.

Waiver of insurance fee

While TDI benefits are being paid in respect of your disability under TDI cover, the insurer will not charge any TDI premium for you. Insurance fees will still be payable for any other insurance cover you may have under the SignatureSuper plan.

As soon as the TDI benefit stops for you, TDI insurance fees will start being charged again for your insurance cover, unless the policy has ceased.

Rehabilitation expenses

While you are receiving total disability or partial disability benefits, the insurer may reimburse rehabilitation expenses, such as the cost of a rehabilitation course or special equipment, to help you return to work.

The insurer must approve these rehabilitation expenses in writing before they are incurred. The rehabilitation must be approved by your doctor.

Generally the insurer will pay rehabilitation expenses up to a maximum amount equal to 24 times your monthly benefit, less any amount that can be claimed from other sources for those expenses (unless otherwise agreed in writing).

When will Temporary Disability payments stop?

The insurer will generally stop paying TDI benefits if:

- you are no longer totally or partially disabled
- you are receiving partial disability benefits and are able to earn your full income again
- you die
- you become TPD (if applicable)
- you are no longer under the care of a doctor
- your SignatureSuper employer or you fail to provide the insurer with requested information or other evidence reasonably required to assess your claim
- you reach age 65 (or the communicated end date or your plan), or
- the insurer has paid up to the maximum benefit period.

Temporary Disability claim payments are limited to 12 months from the date of your disability, unless you are continually residing in Australia, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, New Zealand,

Singapore, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, the United States of America or any other country agreed to in writing with the insurer.

After the 12 months limitation period you will cease to be paid any benefits until you return to Australia or any of the approved countries, notwithstanding you are otherwise eligible to claim such benefits.

Exclusions for Temporary Disability cover

Unfortunately, the insurer will not pay a temporary disability benefit when disablement is directly or indirectly caused by:

- any intentional self-inflicted injury or attempted suicide (whether you were sane or insane)
- normal and uncomplicated pregnancy or childbirth
- war or warlike operations
- service in the armed forces (excluding Australian Army Reservists not deployed overseas), or
- any other event or matter agreed between the trustee and the insurer.

Please refer to your welcome letter for the specific exclusions which apply to your employer plan.

INTERIM ACCIDENT COVER

If you apply to add or increase your cover, the insurer will provide you with Interim Accident cover while considering your application.

For employee members only who qualify for automatic acceptance and your default insurance cover exceeds your plan's AAL, you'll need to apply for that part of your cover. While your application is being assessed, the insurer will provide Interim Accident cover for that part of the cover which exceeds your AAL.

When does cover start?

The Interim Accident cover period will start when the insurer receives an application for the applicable cover.

When does cover stop?

The Interim Accident cover period will end on the earliest of:

- the insurer either accepts or rejects your application for cover or increase in cover, as the case may be
- you either cancel or withdraw your application
- 90 days after your Interim Accident cover starts, or
- the date you cease to satisfy the eligibility terms for cover.

When will an Interim Accident benefit be paid?

The insurer will pay a benefit if, when applying to increase the amount of cover, you die, suffer TPD or total disability as a result of an accidental injury, while you are covered by this Interim Accident cover, depending on the type of cover proposed.

Are there any exclusions?

Unfortunately no Interim Accident benefit will be payable for:

- injury to a member caused by engaging in hazardous pastimes or sports that would not be covered under the insurer's normal assessment guidelines
- injury occurring prior to the date of becoming an eligible person
- the cover applied for would have been declined under the insurer's normal assessment guidelines, or
- you lodge a claim for an event or condition that would have been excluded under the insurer's normal underwriting process.

The insurer will not pay more than one benefit under Interim Accident insurance for any one accident to any person.

How much Interim Accident cover will the insurer pay?

The amount payable will be subject to:

- the relevant terms and conditions of the insurance policy for your SignatureSuper plan
- the level of cover for your category of membership
- a maximum limit of $1 million (or such other amount the insurer agrees) for death and TPD benefits, and
- a maximum limit of $15,000 per month for TDI cover.

General terms that apply to your cover

Insurance and Choice of Fund

If Choice of Fund applies to you, you should consider your insurance arrangements carefully before choosing to direct Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contributions away from SignatureSuper to another fund. SignatureSuper, with group insurance arrangements, may provide more potential advantages than a personal insurance policy, including lower rates and obtaining insurance cover without having to provide medical evidence.

Your insurance could be affected if you decide to direct future SG contributions away from SignatureSuper to another fund, depending on the terms and conditions of your cover. If this is the case, we'll let you know in writing.

You should talk to your financial adviser before making any decisions that could affect your insurance cover.

Takeover terms for insurance

Takeover terms for insurance may apply when your plan commences in SignatureSuper and the insurer agrees to take over the cover previously provided to your former super arrangement by another insurer.

The insurer will accept takeover terms if it receives and accepts all required information.

For transferring members, your Death cover in the plan will commence on the date your SignatureSuper plan commences.

Your TPD or TDI (if it applies) cover in the plan will also commence on the date your SignatureSuper plan commences if you were:

- at work actively performing all the duties and work hours of your usual occupation with your SignatureSuper employer on your last normal working day immediately before the date your SignatureSuper plan commenced, or
- on approved leave for reasons other than illness or injury on your last normal working day immediately before the date your SignatureSuper plan commenced and you were:
 - at work actively performing all the duties and work hours of your usual occupation with your SignatureSuper employer on the day before your first day of leave, and
 - not disabled due to an event (eg illness or injury) occurring before the date your SignatureSuper plan commenced while on paid or unpaid leave.

Otherwise, your TPD or TDI cover in the plan will commence on the date your SignatureSuper plan commenced but will only be limited cover.

Full TPD or TDI cover in the plan will commence once you are at work actively performing all the duties and work hours of your usual occupation with your SignatureSuper employer free of any limitations due to injury or illness, and you are not entitled to or receiving income or benefits from any other source.

For transferring family members, if the above takeover terms are provided for a group of family members who already have cover within a corporate super fund, it will be agreed among the insurer, trustee and SignatureSuper employer.

These terms for commencement of insurance cover are in accordance with the industry standard, referred to as the Financial Services Council Guidance Note No. 11.00 Group Insurance Takeover Terms. A full copy of this document is available from our customer service centre.

Transfer your insurance to AMP

If you have more than one super account, you may already have insurance with another super fund. Before you roll all your super accounts into one, you may want to consider if you still need the insurance. You can apply to replace insurance from your other fund, so that it's all in the one place with AMP.

Your financial adviser can assist you with determining your insurance needs or you can learn more at amp.com.au/managing-insurance-in-super.

Or please contact us.

Worldwide cover

Worldwide cover of your insurance is available through SignatureSuper 24 hours per day, seven days per week.

Insurance cover during unpaid leave

If you are an employee member and your SignatureSuper employer approves a leave of absence or parental leave, the insurer may continue to provide Death, TPD and TDI cover (if it applies) for up to two years, providing:

- you do not join the armed forces, (excluding Australian Army Reservists not deployed overseas)
- you remain a member of the plan, and
- for TDI cover, immediately prior to the commencement of the period of leave you were at work (unless otherwise agreed to with your insurer).

We'll continue to deduct insurance fees from your account during any period of leave of absence or parental leave. If you don't want your cover to continue during any period of leave of absence or parental leave contact us so we can arrange this.

Please refer to your welcome letter for the cover period and specific terms which applies to your employer plan.

If you cancel your insurance cover due to leave of absence or parental leave, or if your period of leave continues for more than two years, you will need to provide evidence of health to the insurer. If the insured amount is reduced to nil for a period of time, and subsequently reinstated then underwriting terms apply in respect of the total amount of cover and any subsequent increases in cover.

What happens to your insurance cover if you choose to close your account?

If you choose to withdraw your full account balance and close your SignatureSuper account but do not leave the employment of your SignatureSuper employer, all your insurance cover in the plan will cease. No cover will be provided after the date you leave the SignatureSuper plan.

What happens to your insurance cover when you leave the SignatureSuper employer?

When you leave your SignatureSuper employer we will generally transfer you to a retained plan with continuation of your insurance (if any). The specifics depend on the insurer for your retained plan.

Your welcome letter will include details of your retained plan's insurer.

If your retained plan is insured by MLC

Details on what happens to your insurance cover for your category of membership are in your welcome letter.

If your retained plan is insured by TAL

(For more information please see the SignatureSuper TAL Corporate Insurance Guide)

Where you have cover at the time you leave your employer and transfer to the TAL retained plan, then you will have:

- a fixed dollar amount of Death cover to which tapering may apply,
- if TPD cover is applicable, a fixed dollar amount of TPD cover to which tapering may apply.

If you had automatic IP cover (you weren't underwritten for your IP cover), you will have a:

- benefit period of 2 years,
- waiting period of 90 days, and
- fixed sum insured amount based on the amount applicable as at the date you move into your retained plan (including any Superannuation Contribution Benefit amount). In your retained plan, the Superannuation Contribution Benefit percentage is 11.5%.

Example of default cover SCB differing in the employer plan vs the retained plan:

John's employer plan has 10% SCB. His salary is $120,000 pa, which means his default IP cover is $7,500 per month (75% of his monthly salary) plus $1,000 SCB (10% of his monthly salary). When John leaves his employer and is moved to the standard retained plan, his salary transfers as is, but his SCB is now 11.5%. So, his new default IP cover amount becomes $7,500 plus $1,150 SCB.

Please note: This is an example only. The actual amount of cover you are provided will be detailed in your welcome letter (employer plan and retained plan).

Alternatively, if your IP was underwritten, then you will:

- have a fixed sum insured amount based on the amount applicable as at the date you move into your retained plan,
- keep your existing waiting period and benefit period, and
- keep your superannuation contribution benefit amount (if this applies to you).

Any existing conditions, loadings, exclusions or restrictions that applied to cover whilst in your employer plan, will continue to apply in the retained plan.

Cover will be limited cover¹ until you are at work² for a 30 consecutive day period ending on or after the date that your cover commences in the retained plan.

We will write to you at the time to confirm the details of your membership and to provide you with details of any differences between your employer plan and your retained plan.

If your employer paid for your cover and you haven't turned 25 and/or your super balance hasn't reached $6,000. We're required to cancel your insurance from the date we're notified by your employer unless you tell us you'd like to keep it. If you decide to keep your insurance, the insurance fees (including any outstanding insurance fees) will be paid via your super account).

You can tell us you'd like to keep your insurance at any time: amp.com.au/keepmyinsurance.

If you didn't have insurance in your employer plan because you're not yet 25 and/or your super balance hasn't reached $6,000, and you're a MySuper member. You may still be eligible for insurance after leaving your SignatureSuper employer.

MySuper members who leave their SignatureSuper employer and transfer to a retained plan, and then become eligible for insurance (turn 25 and have a balance of at least $6,000 (and meet all other eligibility criteria)) will have insurance automatically applied. If you have previously told us you don't want your insurance, then this cover will not be applied.

If insurance is applied to your account you will be notified, including the amount and cost, in your insurance confirmation letter. And you will also be able to see the amount of insurance in My AMP and your member statements going forward from that point.

When does cover stop

Your cover generally stops when:

- You cease to be a member of the SignatureSuper employer plan.
 - You reach the maximum benefit expiry age for your SignatureSuper employer plan.
 - You reach the expiry age under the insurance policy:
 - age 65 for Death and TPD insurance cover, and
 - age 65 for Temporary Disability cover.
 - You die.
 - You have been paid a TPD claim.
 - The date you have been paid a Terminal Illness benefit equal to the insured death or TPD amount.
 - You tell us you want to cancel your cover.
 - The day before you commence service with the armed forces of any country (excluding Australian Army Reserves not deployed overseas).
 - You are on unpaid leave (including parental leave) for more than a written agreed period and the insurer has not agreed to provide insurance cover beyond that period.
 - Your account doesn't have enough money to pay the insurance fees at the time that they are charged, meaning your insurance will be cancelled immediately. If you roll money out of your account, your insurance will cease if you do not have sufficient funds to pay insurance fees.
 - Your membership in SignatureSuper is for insurance purposes only, your account balance is nil, your employer is paying your insurance fees and member fees and they stop paying. You'll first be given 30 days' notice that payments will become your responsibility. We'll then write to you giving 60 days' notice before your cover stops to give you the opportunity to contribute to your account or arrange cover elsewhere.
- Your SignatureSuper employer lets us know in writing that they want to cancel the cover that applies to your plan (or membership category), we will let you know if this happens.
 - If no contributions or rollovers have been received into your account for a period of 16 months, we're required to cancel your insurance, unless you have told us in writing that you want to keep your insurance. You can do this at amp.com.au/insurancecancellation.
 - If you had insurance because your employer funded the full cost of insurance and notified us of this, but then the employer ceases to fully fund your insurance – if you don't meet Super law eligibility (eg you're under age 25, or have a balance below $6,000 and haven't chosen to keep your insurance) – we're required to cancel your insurance. You can choose to keep your cover at amp.com.au/whyinsurance.
 - If your SignatureSuper employer was paying your insurance fees by making additional contributions, they will stop paying effective the date you leave employment. If you are eligible for insurance (eg you've reached $6,000 in your account and are at least 25 years of age), insurance fees charged from the date you ceased employment to the date we're notified that you've left your employer will be deducted from your account. If you have insufficient funds to pay these insurance fees, your cover will be cancelled effective from the date that insurance fees are unpaid.
 - The date the SignatureSuper employer plan terminates or the insurance policy is terminated or cancelled, whichever occurs first.

1 Limited cover means that a person insured will only be paid a benefit if:

- a. the claim was caused by a medical condition, injury or sickness the person insured was first diagnosed with, which first happened or first suffered from, or first had symptoms of, or was first treated for, after the date the person insured first became covered under this policy, and
- b. the claim was not caused by any medical condition, injury or sickness:
 - the person insured was reasonably aware of, and
 - a reasonable person in the circumstances could be expected to have been aware of, at the time before cover commenced under this policy.

2 At work means the person was:

- a. either:
 - i. performing all their duties of their normal occupation without restriction due to injury or illness or would have been capable of doing so, had the relevant day not been a public holiday or weekend day, or
 - ii. on employer approved leave (except leave caused by any injury or illness or was absent for reasons other than injury or illness) and the person would be capable of attending work and performing all their duties of their normal occupation without restriction, and
- b. in the insurer's opinion, not restricted by injury or illness from being capable of performing their normal occupation on a full-time basis, for at least 30 hours per week even though actual employment may be on a full-time, part-time, casual or contract basis, and
- c. not receiving or claiming and/or entitled to claim income support benefits from any source, including but not limited to, workers' compensation benefits, statutory transport accident benefits and disability income benefits.

Managing your cover

As life changes, your insurance needs may change too. The level of cover you need will depend upon your own personal circumstances and your need to provide for your family and/or other beneficiaries. It's important to keep reviewing your cover to make sure it continues to be right for you.

Can you change my cover?

Yes, you can increase, reduce or cancel your cover. Just bear in mind TPD cover cannot be greater than your Death cover and you can't have TPD only cover.

If you need to change your cover please contact us.

Reinstating cover cancelled due to inactivity

If your insurance is cancelled as a result of inactivity, no contributions or rollovers being received into your account for a continuous period of 16 months, you can generally reinstate your cover without the need for further underwriting if you apply within 60 days of cover being cancelled. Your insurance cover will be reinstated with any exclusions, loadings or restrictions backdated to the date of cancellation and any outstanding insurance fees will be payable. Your cover will not resume until we confirm acceptance in writing. Contact us for further information.

Additional cover

You can apply for additional cover. Find out more in the Your insurance cover section.

When will my cover be debited from my account?

Your cover is debited from your account monthly in advance.

What is Protecting Your Super (PYS)?

PYS is super legislation that is designed to make sure super fund members are not paying for insurance cover they don't know about, or don't need. PYS means that we cancel your insurance if you haven't had a contribution or rollover put into your account within the last 16 months, unless you've elected to keep your cover.

You can tell us you'd like to keep your insurance at any time: amp.com.au/keepmyinsurance.

How much does insurance cover cost?

Your insurance fee is made up of your premiums and any insurance service expense and stamp duty that applies.

Lower cost premiums

For employee members, group premiums are generally less expensive than a personal insurance policy.

Your insurance fees are calculated at the start of each month. They may also be recalculated when the amount of your cover changes (eg following a salary increase).

The cost of your cover depends on the amount and type of cover, your age, premium rates, stamp duty (if any) and insurance service expense (if any) applying to your category of the plan. Your health and lifestyle can also influence your insurance fees if you needed to provide those details to get cover.

Your insurance confirmation letter or latest member statement sets out your premium and stamp duty (if applicable).

How are your insurance fees paid?

Insurance fees are paid in advance and are deducted from your super account at the start of every month (unless your SignatureSuper employer has agreed to pay your insurance fees).

We will deduct your insurance fees in the following order:

- first, from any money held in Choice investment options, excluding any amount held in term deposits, and
- if there is insufficient money in Choice investment options, or if your only investment is in the MySuper investment option, we will then deduct from the MySuper investment option.

If your SignatureSuper employer has agreed to pay your insurance fees by making additional contributions and notifies us of this, but then they stop paying your insurance fees:

- If you're eligible to have insurance
We'll deduct any unpaid insurance fees and all future insurance fees from your account. We'll confirm this change with an interim statement.
- If you're not eligible to have insurance
For example, you have not reached $6,000 in your account or you're under age 25 - we may be required to cancel your insurance back to the last time that your employer paid your insurance fees and notifies us of this. However, you'll have 30 days from when we notify you of this change, for you to tell us if you want to keep your insurance - if you do this, your cover will continue and you'll be paying for the insurance fees from your super account, including any outstanding insurance fees.

You can tell us you'd like to keep your insurance at any time: amp.com.au/keepmyinsurance.

If you decide to keep your insurance, the insurance fees (including any outstanding insurance fees) will be paid via your super account. This will be the case if:

- you leave your employer
- your employer doesn't pay on time, or
- your employer doesn't notify us that they are paying your insurance fees.

If there isn't enough money in your account to pay for your insurance fees, your cover will stop. We'll write to you, giving you 60 days' notice before this happens.

Will your insurance fees change?

We recalculate your insurance fee when we complete your SignatureSuper plan's annual review. Insurance fees are based on your age and generally increase as you get older.

The insurance fees for all employee members of your SignatureSuper plan will be reviewed at your plan's annual review, to reflect the profile of the insured members in your SignatureSuper plan and your plan's claims experience.

The insurer has the right to vary premium rates in the future. When we increase your insurance fees, at least a 30 days' notice will be given to you. Generally, the new rates will apply from your plan's next annual review.

If you make a change to your cover, such as increasing your Death cover, your insurance fee will be adjusted to reflect this change. Your new insurance fee will apply from the date that the insurer accepts the proposed changes to your cover.

Change in the event of war

If there's an event of war in Australia or New Zealand the insurer may change premiums. We'll tell you if this happens.

Unless the increased insurance fee is paid, the insurer may not pay any claims that are directly or indirectly caused by the war or invasion.

Insurance fees quote

You can obtain a quotation by contacting SignatureSuper Customer Service.

Government duties

In addition to the premiums for any cover, government stamp duty or a similar tax may also be payable.

Stamp duty is either incorporated into the base premium rates or is an additional charge.

Any additional stamp duty on insurance premiums will be:

- deducted from your account when your insurance premium is deducted, or
- paid by your employer if your employer is paying your insurance premium.

Your member statement will show the amount of any additional stamp duty or tax deducted.

If a state or territory government stamp duty or tax applies, it will be based on the address we have on records.

Additional stamp duty currently varies between 1% and 11% of the cost of premiums (excluding any insurance service expense), depending on the insurance benefits and your home state or territory. Additional stamp duty charges can change without notice (up and down), as governments introduce a new stamp duty or revise an existing one or as we change our address records.

The insurer may also change the way they recover stamp duty, from incorporating it into the base premium rates to making it an additional charge.

Insurance service expense

The insurance service expense is up to 11.5% of your premium, capped at $30 per month. The insurance service expense is charged by us and covers the cost of providing insurance in the fund.

How premiums are calculated for employee members

Your insurance premiums may be calculated annually at your SignatureSuper employer plan's annual review or at any time there is a substantial change in the plan to reflect the profile of insured members. It may also be recalculated when the amount of your cover changes (eg following a salary increase).

The premium for your plan may depend on many factors including:

- your plan or category's occupation mix
- your plan or category's gender mix
- your plan or category's age profile
- the number of insured members in your plan, and
- your plan's past claims experience.

Your individual premiums may depend on factors including your age, gender and occupation, as well as any health and lifestyle details you've needed to provide.

Other things you need to know

Insurance Contracts Act

The Insurance Contracts Act 1984 requires an insurer to clearly advise an insured of their duty to take reasonable care before entering into an insurance contract and the consequences of any non-disclosure.

The duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation

About this application and your duty

When you apply for life insurance, the insurer conducts a process called underwriting. It's how the insurer decides whether they can cover you, and if so on what terms and at what cost.

The insurer asks questions they need to know the answers to. These will be about your personal circumstances, such as your health and medical history, occupation, income, lifestyle, pastimes, and current and past insurance. The information you give in response to their questions is vital to their decision.

The duty to take reasonable care

When applying for insurance, there is a legal duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation to the insurer before the contract of insurance is entered into.

A misrepresentation is a false answer, an answer that is only partially true, or an answer which does not fairly reflect the truth.

This duty also applies when extending or making changes to existing insurance, and reinstating insurance.

If you do not meet your duty

If you do not meet your legal duty, this can have serious impacts on your insurance. Your cover could be avoided (treated as if it never existed), or its terms may be changed. This may also result in a claim being declined or a benefit being reduced.

Please note that there may be circumstances where the insurer later investigates whether the information given was true. For example, the insurer may do this when a claim is made.

Guidance for answering questions

We, as the trustee, are the policy owner. You are the life insured. A misrepresentation by you, as the life insured, has the effect as though it is a misrepresentation by us as the policy owner.

As the insurance is inside super we obtain this insurance from the insurer in relation to you. In this circumstance, the insurer will rely on the representations made by us and you.

Both you and us, as the trustee of the fund, are responsible for the information provided to the insurer. When answering the questions, the insurer requests that you:

- Think carefully about each question before you answer. If you are unsure of the meaning of any question, please ask us or the insurer before you respond.
- Answer every question.
- Answer truthfully, accurately and completely. If you are unsure about whether you should include information, please include it.
- Review your application carefully before it is submitted.
- If someone else helped prepare your application (eg your adviser), please check every answer (and if necessary, make any corrections) before the application is submitted.
- You must not assume that the insurer will contact your doctor for any medical information. If you are unsure about whether you should include information or not, please include it.

Changes before your cover starts

Your duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation continues until the time your insurance cover starts.

Before your cover starts, the insurer may ask about any changes that mean you would now answer the questions differently. As any changes might require further assessment or investigation, it could save time if you let the insurer know about any changes when they happen.

If you need help

It's important that you understand this information and the questions the insurer asks. You can ask us, the insurer or an adviser for help if you have difficulty understanding the process of applying for insurance or answering the questions.

If you're having difficulty due to a disability, understanding English or for any other reason, we or the insurer are available to help and can provide additional support for anyone who might need it. If you want, you can have a support person you trust with you.

What can the insurer do if the duty is not met?

If the person who answers the questions does not take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation, there are different remedies that may be available to the insurer. These are set out in the Insurance Contracts Act 1984 (Cth). These are intended to put the insurer in the position they would have been in if the duty had been met.

For example, the insurer may do one of the following:

- avoid the cover (treat it as if it never existed)
- vary the amount of the cover
- vary the terms of the cover.

Whether the insurer can exercise one of these remedies depends on a number of factors, including:

- whether the person who answered the questions took reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation – this depends on all of the relevant circumstances
- what the insurer would have done if the duty had been met – for example, whether the insurer would have offered cover, and if so, on what terms
- whether the misrepresentation was fraudulent, and
- in some cases, how long it has been since the cover started.

Before the insurer can exercise any of these remedies, they will explain their reasons, how to respond and provide further information, including what you can do if you disagree. The insurer is required to notify us, as the trustee and policy owner, of these matters.

Disclosure and representations by employers and members

As trustee, we rely on the information provided by you and the SignatureSuper employer. If the insurer refuses to pay an insured benefit to us as a result of non-disclosure or misrepresentation, we will not be able to pay the insured benefit to you.

What the employer needs to tell us

The employer should tell us if they are aware of anything affecting their employees as a group (other than the information about their ages, occupations and claims experience that they have already given us) that is relevant to the insurer's decision whether to accept the risk of the insurance and, if so, on what terms.

The employer does not need to tell us about the health of individual employees. If employees do not qualify for automatic acceptance or their cover exceeds the AAL, we will advise employees of their duty to take reasonable care when we collect information about their health from them.
