3.2 Accounts for personal customers

You can open an account in your own name or jointly with other persons.

If the account is opened in the name of more than one person:

- the account is a joint account unless you tell us otherwise
- the authority to operate on the account will be for any of you to sign, unless you tell us otherwise
- you may nominate the number of signatories required for withdrawals (which may be one or more than one). All account holders must sign this nomination

- each of you are bound by the transactions made on the account and you are all liable jointly and individually for the account
- AMP Visa Debit Cards (where available on an account) will be issued to each account holder where the signing authority is 'any to sign', unless you tell us otherwise
- we may accept as a deposit any cheque payable to any one or more of you up until 27 May 2024. From 27 May 2024, the holder of a bank cheque issued by AMP Bank will need to call 13 30 30 to arrange for the funds to be paid into a nominated bank account. For more information on this process, visit amp.com.au/banking/ways-to-bank. AMP Bank will accept other cheques for deposit until 24 November 2024. From 24 November 2024, we won't accept personal cheques or cheques issued by other financial institutions.
- we may send you notices, statements or other documents including changes made in accordance with these terms and conditions by mailing or emailing them to any one of you and you all will be deemed to have received them, except where doing so would be inconsistent with a nomination you have made for the account.

The parent(s) or guardian(s) of a minor may request an account to be opened in the minor's name. The parent(s) or guardian(s) must be the signatory(ies) on the account of minors under the age of 13. A minor of 13 years and over can be nominated as a signatory to the account provided the standard account opening requirements can be met.

An SMSF member receiving a pension from their SMSF may open an AMP SuperEdge Pension Account in their personal name but must link their account to an AMP SuperEdge Cash Account held by their SMSF.

3.3 Accounts for companies, trusts and other organisations

Companies, trusts (including self-managed superannuation trusts) and other organisations such as unincorporated associations, partnerships, government bodies and registered co-operatives may open accounts. Not all accounts are available to all entity types.

If the account is opened in the name of a company, trust, or other organisation (the 'entity'):

- the entity must execute documents and transactions in its own right unless authorised signatories have been set up to act on its behalf. The entity will be liable for all actions undertaken by its authorised signatories
- the entity may nominate the number of authorised signatories required for withdrawals (which may be one or more than one). The officers of the entity must sign this nomination
- we may accept as a deposit any cheque payable to the entity until 27 May 2024. From 27 May 2024, the holder of a bank cheque issued by AMP Bank will need to call 13 30 30 to arrange for the funds to be paid into a nominated bank account. For more information on this process, visit amp.com.au/banking/ways-to-bank. AMP Bank will accept other cheques for deposit until 24 November 2024. From 24 November 2024, we won't accept personal cheques or cheques issued by other financial institutions.
- we may send the entity notices, statements or other documents including changes to these terms and conditions by mailing or emailing them to the entity, and all authorised signatories and officers of the entity will be deemed to have received them.

A trustee can open an account in trust for another person. This means that the trustee controls the account for the benefit of that other person. The trust must be legally formed, and we may, acting reasonably, request an original certified copy of certain documents such as an original certified extract of the trust deed and/or additional information to help us identify and verify the trust and the trustee(s).

You must be over 18 years of age to open an account in trust for another person.

Societies, companies, businesses, executors, administrators, and others can also open an account in trust for another person.

An SMSF trustee can open an account in trust for the SMSF. An SMSF trustee can open an AMP SuperEdge Pension Account in trust for a recipient of a pension from the SMSF. This means that the SMSF trustee controls the account for the benefit of the SMSF or the SMSF pension recipient. The SMSF trust must be legally formed, and we may, acting reasonably, request original certified copy(ies) of certain documents, such as an original certified extract of the SMSF trust deed, and/or additional information to help us identify and verify the SMSF trust and the trustees of the SMSF.

4 Opening your account

4.1 How to apply for an account

You may apply to open an account:

- via our website at amp.com.au
- by making an application through an AMP financial adviser (including where your adviser submits your application on your behalf)
- by making an application through an AMP accredited mortgage broker or AMP representative for deposit products
- by mailing an application to us.

Some application methods listed above may not be available on all accounts or for all customers. See condition 2 - Product features at a glance for details.

4.1.1 Requesting AMP Access Account - Basic Features

When you apply for an AMP Access Account, you can elect to have the following Basic Features applied to the account if at least one account holder is an Eligible Government Card Holder.

The AMP Access Account - Basic Features are:

- we won't charge any dishonour fees e.g. if a payment to or from the account is dishonored
- we won't allow the account to become overdrawn unless it is impossible or reasonably impractical for us to prevent it. This means you are less likely to owe us money as a result of us honouring a transaction when there are insufficient funds in the account
- if the account becomes overdrawn for any reason (e.g. we couldn't prevent the overdrawn amount due to a system outage), we won't charge debit interest on the overdrawn amount. We don't charge an overdrawn fee on any accounts we offer

At any time after your AMP Access Account is opened, you can ask us to remove or apply the Basic Features in accordance with the signing authority on the account.

We may remove Basic Features from an AMP Access Account if all account holders cease to be Eligible Government Card Holders or if you switch your AMP Access Account to another product (refer to condition 8.3.1 Switching savings and transaction accounts).

If you have (or apply for) an AMP Access Account with Basic Features:

- we may request evidence that an account holder is an Eligible Government Card Holder and verify that information with government agencies
- you agree to tell us if all account holders cease to be Eligible Government Card Holders.

4.2 What you need to provide when you open an account - personal details and identification requirements

When you apply for an account, you must provide identification information about yourself, any connected parties, any additional signatories to the account and any additional people to whom you wish to provide access to your account. We will then verify some or all aspects of that identification information, by either documentary or electronic methods. We also require identification information about any connected parties and any additional signatories or additional people you later ask us to add to the account or to whom you wish to provide access to your account, and we will also need to verify some or all aspects of that identification information.

We may verify your identity electronically. If we do, we will ask you for your details (such as full name, residential address, and date of birth) and details of your identification documents. You authorise and instruct us to send or otherwise provide this information to one or more external organisations to electronically match with identification data on their databases. These organisations will assess and advise us whether all or some of the information you provided match their records. We may require you to provide copies of your and/or your connected parties including signatories, original certified identification documents so that we can verify your and/or your connected parties' identity.

These external organisations will collect, store, use and dispose of your personal and confidential information in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).

For individuals, you need to provide identification information personal details, such as your:

- full name
- residential address
- date of birth
- foreign tax residency status and details of the foreign tax identification number and country
- phone number
- email address.

Where we need you to provide original identification documents or original certified copies of identification documents they may include, for example:

- a passport
- a driver's licence.

If you are not an individual or cannot provide these details and documents, we may, acting reasonably, require you to provide other forms of identification documentation. Please contact us on 13 30 30 for more information about these identification requirements.

Other entities, such as companies and trusts, may also be required to provide original certified copies of documentation to help us identify and verify them, such as:

- certificate of incorporation or registration
- licence record from the relevant regulator
- trust deed or extract of the trust deed
- personal identification documents of connected parties who are individuals for example, individual trustees, beneficial owners or controlling persons (as applicable), signatories, power of attorneys.

A full list of acceptable forms of identification and people who can certify identification documents or extracts of documents is available at amp.com.au/identification.

Please contact us on 13 30 30 for more information about these identification requirements.

4.2.1 What happens if we cannot verify your identity?

If we cannot identify you and/or verify your identity, or the identity of any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, at time of onboarding or at any time throughout the life of the customer relationship, to our reasonable satisfaction, we may decline your application for an account, or may restrict, block or close your account without notice to you.

Providing false or misleading information about your identity, or the identity of any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, at time of onboarding or at any time throughout the life of the customer relationship is an offence and is a breach of these terms and conditions.

By opening, or using any account, you acknowledge that we may, acting reasonably, decide to delay, restrict, block or refuse to open any or all accounts if we:

- have not, despite our reasonable efforts, been able to identify you and/or verify your identity, or identify and/or verify the identity of any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom you grant access to your account at time of onboarding or at any time throughout the life of the customer relationship
- if we are concerned that the request/action may breach any obligation, or cause us to commit or participate in an offence under any legislation.

We may, acting reasonably, decide to refuse to open an account or close any or all accounts or to delay, restrict, block or refuse any request, payment or transaction including interest payments at any time if we:

- have not, despite our reasonable efforts, been able to identify, verify or re-verify your identity, any connected party's identity, any signatory's identity or the identity of any person to whom you may have granted access to your account, at time of onboarding or at any time throughout the life of the customer relationship
- are concerned that the request or transaction may breach any obligation, or cause us to commit or participate in an offence under any law
- reasonably consider you induced us to open the account by fraud.

You acknowledge that we will incur no liability to you if we take any of the actions above, except to the extent that the liability arises from our fraud, negligence or wilful misconduct (including that of our officers, employees, contractors, or agents).

4.2.2 Confirming and verifying your information after your account is opened

From time to time we may need to reconfirm your details, or the details of any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, request that you provide further information and/or re-verify your identity or the identity of any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, to satisfy our obligations under any legislation, such as AML/CTF laws, sanctions laws, Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, Common Reporting Standards, etc. You agree to provide us with any information or documents that we reasonably require within the timeframe we specify when we make the request.

You also agree to notify us if you or any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided:

- have a material change in your/their identification information, for example:
  - changes to any part of your name or your address, or to any connected party's name or address
  - changes regarding any connected parties or other signatories on your account or people to whom you have granted access to your account
  - changes to your phone or email contact details
  - changes to the nature of your business, or business registration or regulation status
- become or suspect that you/they may become a politically exposed person as defined in the AML/CTF laws
- become or suspect that you/they may become a proscribed person for the purposes of sanctions law (You can find out more about whether you are a proscribed person or a politically exposed person by checking the AUSTRAC website at www.austrac.gov.au)

- are commonly known by a name other than the name provided in your application for an account
- where the account is opened in the name of a trust, and the trust makes a distribution to a beneficiary who is a foreign tax resident. You will notify us within 30 days of the distribution being made. You will also provide us with the beneficiary details requested, including details in relation to their foreign tax residency.

We may, acting reasonably, restrict, block or close any or all of your accounts if you:

- fail to provide us with any additional information we reasonably request regarding your or any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, identification information, documentation, payments or transactions, as applicable
- fail to notify us of the types of events outlined above
- provide us with false or misleading identification information.

4.3 When is your account ready to use - your account opening date

Your account opening date is the date on which we notify you that we have finished processing your application and opened your account.

To ensure that we are able to finish processing your application, all of the information and any documentation you provide must be complete in all respects, and satisfactory to us.

For a term deposit, we must also receive your funds by either cheque (this method of deposit will no longer be available from 24 November 2024) or a debit to a bank account (held with us or another financial institution that you have registered with us, and the nominated account must be in the same name as your term deposit application) before we can finish processing your application and open your account.

4.4 Account limits, minimums and maximums

Minimum opening balances apply to some accounts. Maximum balance amounts may apply to accounts held in a single Customer Name. See condition 2 - Product features at a glance for details.

These amounts may vary from time to time. We will inform you of any change in accordance with condition 8.4.1 What happens if we vary these terms and conditions?

4.5 The length of a term deposit

We will determine from time to time the minimum and maximum terms for a term deposit. Within the range set by us, you may choose a term of any length.

The minimum term for a new term deposit depends on the opening balance of the term deposit. See Condition 2 - Product features at a glance for details.

For term deposits with terms less than five years, if the prospective maturity date is on a non-business day, the actual maturity date of your term deposit will be set as the next business day.

For term deposits with terms of five years, if the prospective maturity date is on a non-business day, the actual maturity date of your term deposit will be set as the last business day before that prospective maturity date.

To find out about the current range of terms and interest rates available, contact us on 13 30 30 or go to our website at amp.com.au.

4.6 Confirming your account details

We will send you confirmation of the details of your account (that is not a term deposit) after we open it, either by letter or electronically.

We will send you a confirmation of the details of your term deposit after we open it, and after we pay interest at any time during the term, either by letter or electronically.

5 Interest

5.1 When and how interest is calculated

5.1.1 Interest we pay on accounts (that are not term deposits)

We calculate interest from the date your account is opened. We may vary the interest rate applying to your account, in accordance with condition 8.4.1 What happens if we vary these terms and conditions? including by reducing the interest rate to zero. We will inform you of any change in accordance with condition 8.4.1 What happens if we vary these terms and conditions?. The interest rate for your account may also change depending on the daily balance held in the account. Interest rates are variable and subject to change.

Interest is calculated and accrued daily based on the balance of your account. Interest is paid on the first day of the month after the month in which it accrues.

For example, if:

- your account is opened on the first day of the month
- the month in which the interest is calculated has 30 days
- your account balance is $1,000 at the close of business for every day of the month
- the interest rate applicable during the month to your account is 1.00% pa
- your interest is paid monthly,

then the interest paid to your account on the first day of the next month will be calculated as follows:

$$\frac{($1,000 \times 1.00\%)}{365} \times 30 = $0.82$$

We do not pay you any interest for the day on which your account is closed.

Details of the interest rates applicable to accounts are available by calling us on 13 30 30 or on our website at amp.com.au.

5.1.2 Interest we pay on accounts opened on the last day of any month

If your account is opened on the last day of any month, the interest is calculated daily (including for that day) and paid on the first day of the second month after the account was opened.

For example, if:

- your account is opened on 31 July and the account balance on that day and every day of the following month is $1,000
- the interest rate applicable to your account during both months is 1.00% pa
- the interest is paid monthly,

then the first interest amount paid to your account - for 32 days (1 day in July and 31 days in August) - will be paid to your account on 1 September, and will be calculated as follows:

$$\frac{($1,000 \times 1.00\%)}{365} \times 32 = $0.88$$

5.1.3 Interest we pay on term deposits

The interest rate applying on a term deposit varies depending on:

- the term of the deposit
- the amount of the deposit
- how often interest is paid.

We calculate interest from the date your account is opened. Once a term commences, the interest rate is fixed for that term.

Interest is calculated daily and is paid:

- at maturity for terms of less than 1 year
- monthly, quarterly, 6-monthly, or annually for terms of 1 year or more

We do not pay you any interest for the day on which your term deposit is closed.

Interest on a term deposit is paid:

- into your nominated account with us or another bank, building society or credit union
- to you by bank cheque. Please note we will stop issuing bank cheques on and from 11 May 2024.
- into your term deposit when it is rolled over and held for another term, and you have instructed us to reinvest the interest payable at maturity.

If interest is paid to you during the term of the deposit ('interim interest'), we will deposit it into an account you nominate, or pay you by bank cheque. Please note we will stop issuing bank cheques on and from 11 May 2024.

For example, if;

- you opened a term deposit on 1 June with a balance of $20,000 for a 12-month term
- the interest rate applicable for the term is 1.50% pa
- you request interest to be paid quarterly,

then the first interim interest payment would be calculated up to 31 August and paid on 1 September, as follows:

$$\frac{($20,000 \times 1.50\%)}{365} \times 92 \text{ (no of days in quarter)} = $75.62$$

Details of the interest rate applied to your term deposit are available by contacting us on 13 30 30 or by viewing your account through My AMP or the My AMP app.

Details of Interest rates applicable to new term deposits are available by contacting us on 13 30 30 or on our website at amp.com.au.

6 How to use your account - access and transactions

6.1 Using and operating your account

6.1.1 How to make deposits to your account

For accounts other than term deposits, you can deposit funds into your account in the following ways:

- direct credit from an external account or external party
- electronic transfer from another account held with us
- depositing via Bank@Post (using an AMP Visa Debit Card)
- we may accept as a deposit any cheque payable to any one or more of you up until 27 May 2024. From 27 May 2024, the holder of a bank cheque issued by AMP Bank will need to call 13 30 30 to arrange for the funds to be paid into a nominated bank account. For more information on this process, visit amp.com.au/banking/ways-to-bank. AMP Bank will accept other cheques for deposit until 24 November 2024. From 24 November 2024, we won't accept personal cheques or cheques issued by other financial institutions.
- any other way we advise you.

You can make the initial deposit to your term deposit by sending a cheque with your application until 19 November 2024, to ensure we are able to process your application by 24 November 2024 (except for bank cheques issued by AMP Bank which we will cease accepting on and from 27 May 2024. If mailing to us, we need to receive the cheque before 22 May 2024). From 24 November 2024, we will no longer accept for deposit any cheques. Otherwise, your initial deposit can be made by a debit to a bank account (held with us or another financial institution that you have registered with us) that is initiated by us.

For term deposits, you may deposit funds into your account only at the time your account is opened, or when you elect to roll your term deposit over at the maturity date. Other than at these times, you cannot make any additional deposits to a term deposit. See condition 7.2 - Your options when your term deposit matures for details.

Debits from an account (held with us or another financial institution) initiated from your account to make a deposit to your account may be permitted, at our reasonable discretion.

Some deposit methods listed above may not be available on all accounts. See condition 2 - Product features at a glance for details.

You cannot send us money electronically until we have advised you that your account has been opened. When you deposit a cheque to your account you cannot use or withdraw the funds until they are cleared. For more information on AMP Bank's acceptance of deposited cheques and clearance times see the condition regarding Cheques in the Account access and operating terms and conditions.

Acting reasonably, we may refuse to accept any deposit to any account without notice to you, where we have determined it is reasonably necessary to protect you or us. You will not be credited for any deposit we accept until we receive the funds.

We may charge you a fee for any direct credits or other deposits that are dishonoured. For further details, see our Deposit products fees and charges guide. Dishonour fees will not be charged on any AMP Access Account while the Basic Features described in condition 4.1.2 Requesting AMP Access Account - Basic Features apply to the account.

Refer to our Account access and operating terms and conditions for more information on the ways to make deposits, and about other access methods. This and our Deposit products fees and charges guide, are available on our website amp.com.au/bankterms or by calling us on 13 30 30.

A bank account is no place for abuse.

You must not use My AMP or any of our products or other services to engage in conduct that, in our reasonable opinion is unlawful, bullying, harassing, defamatory, abusive (including financial abuse) or violent towards any person, threatens physical or mental harm towards any person or is inappropriate in any other way (unacceptable conduct).

- If we reasonably suspect that you are using My AMP or any of our other products or services to engage in unacceptable conduct, we may exercise our rights set out in condition 1.4 - What happens if you breach these terms and conditions? where we reasonably consider doing so is necessary to protect another person from unacceptable conduct.

- If the unacceptable conduct is severe or repeated, we may reasonably close your accounts without giving notice.

- In some circumstances, we will report unacceptable conduct to law enforcement.

- If you experience unacceptable conduct, please contact us on 13 30 30. We will keep this confidential and may be able to assist by making changes to your account access arrangements or helping you to establish a new account.

Domestic and family violence isn't always physical. It includes financial abuse which can involve removing access to money, manipulating financial decisions, or using someone's money without their consent. More information and supporting resources are available at amp.com.au/financial-abuse.

6.1.2 How to make withdrawals from your account

You can withdraw funds from your account in the following ways:

- by AMP Visa Debit Card via ATM, eftpos or contactless purchase
- online as a 'card not present' transaction or through a provider who uses stored card facilities
- using My AMP (internet banking or the My AMP app)
- BankAssist (operator-assisted telephone banking)
- BankFax (fax banking)
- BPAY
- periodical payment
- electronic withdrawals
- bank cheque (at AMP Bank's discretion. This method of payment will no longer be available on and from 11 May 2024)
- pay anyone transfer
- PayID
- any other way we advise you.

Some withdrawal methods listed above may not be available on all accounts. See condition 2 - Product features at a glance for details.

Direct debits initiated from other accounts to make a withdrawal from an AMP Saver Account, AMP Business Saver Account, or AMP SuperEdge Saver Account are not permitted.

Withdrawals from a term deposit are not permitted during the term, except where we agree to your request for a full or partial withdrawal before the end of the term. See condition 7.2.4 Early withdrawals from your term deposit for details about withdrawals from a term deposit before the end of the term.

Fees and charges may apply for withdrawals from accounts. Refer to the Deposit products fees and charges guide, available on our website at amp.com.au/bankterms or by calling us on 13 30 30.

6.2 Adjustment of debits and credits to your account

We may, acting reasonably, assign any date we consider appropriate to a debit or credit on your account (except that, in the case of a debit, the date will not be earlier than the date on which the relevant transaction occurred).

We will credit payments to your account as soon as practicable after we receive them. This is not necessarily the same day that you or someone else initiates a credit to your account (for example using a direct credit).

We may adjust debits and credits on your account and adjust the account balance to accurately reflect the legal obligations of both you and us (for example, because of an error). If we do this, we may make other reasonable changes as a result, including to the interest payments, or fees and charges.

6.3 Overdrawing

You must keep the balance of your account in credit at all times. If for any reason your account is overdrawn, you must immediately repay the amount by which it is overdrawn and any debit interest that may have accrued.

To avoid overdrawing, make sure you know when a withdrawal (such as a scheduled payment or direct debit) is due, and ensure that funds will be available for that withdrawal. When a direct debit and direct credit are due on the same day, the direct debit may be processed first and therefore sufficient funds must already be available in your account to cover the withdrawal.

We may charge interest, or close your account, whenever your account is overdrawn without prior arrangements being made with us (see condition 7.1.3.1 .When we may close an account). Any such interest will be charged to your account on the first day of the month after it accrues.

For example, if your account is overdrawn by $1,000, and the debit interest rate is 12.00% p.a., and the account remains overdrawn for a period of 1 day, then the debit interest that we will charge you will be calculated as follows:

$$\frac{($1,000 \times 12\%)}{365} \times 1 \text{ day} = $0.33$$

Details of the interest rates applicable to accounts are available by contacting us on 13 30 30 or on our website at amp.com.au/banking/interest-rates-fees.

Interest will not be charged on any overdrawing of an AMP Access Account while the Basic Features described in condition 4.1.1 .Requesting AMP Access Account - Basic Features apply to the account.

6.4 Accessing and transacting on your account - additional information

For additional information about account access methods, including electronic communication, BankAssist and direct credit facilities refer to our Account access and operating terms and conditions available online at www.amp.com.au/bankterms or by calling us on 13 30 30.

6.5 Who can use an account?

6.5.1 Authority to operate – signing authority

If the account is in more than one person's name, each of you agree that each person may use the account and have access to account information without any other account holder's consent, unless you tell us otherwise.

All account holders are jointly and individually liable to us for operations on the account.

6.5.1.1 Any to sign

If the account is in more than one person's name, and if the authority to operate ('signing authority') on the account is 'any to sign', each of you agree that each person may have access to and may change account information and may transact on the account by any access method without any other account holder's consent.

Any of you may change the signing authority on the account to 'all to sign'. All account signatories would then be required to sign for any withdrawals.

If you want to change the signing authority on the account to 'any two to sign', all account holders must sign this request.

6.5.1.2 Signing authorities other than 'any to sign'

You may request the signing authority on your account to be set as 'any two to sign' or 'all to sign'.

If you do, and we agree:

- AMP Visa Debit Cards (if available for your account type) will not be issued on the account
- access by BankPhone and internet banking (including mobile banking) will be limited to viewing or obtaining account information only
- access by BankAssist may be restricted to account information unless all account holders are identified to our reasonable satisfaction
- unless we reasonably believe that a joint account holder is experiencing financial difficulty:
  - withdrawal requests must be authorised in accordance with your signing authority
  - any request to process a transaction or change account information will need to be authorised in accordance with your signing authority
- where we reasonably believe that a joint account holder is experiencing financial difficulty and has a pressing financial need, authorise us to act on requests made by that person to prevent or reduce the financial hardship they may experience.

6.5.1.3 Authorised signatories and third parties

You may nominate any person to be an authorised signatory or provide authority to a third party to enable them to operate your account.

You can decide the level of access that an authorised signatory or third party has to your account. This access can be the same as or different to your own access.

To set up an authorised signatory or to authorise a third party to operate your account, you must submit the appropriate Third Party Access form, or an Add/Remove Authorised Signatories form, and also provide an Identification Verification form (including any identification documents we reasonably request) for each signatory or third party. For details of the required forms, documents and information please contact us on 13 30 30.

A full list of acceptable forms of identification and people who can certify identification documents or extracts of documents is available at amp.com.au/identification

The original completed forms and all accompanying documents (originals, original certified copies or uncertified copies, as appropriate) must be returned to:

AMP Bank Limited
Reply Paid 79702
PARRAMATTA NSW 2124

We must complete the identification and verification of an authorised signatory or third party before we will accept an instruction, operation, or transaction from that person in respect of your account.

We will only accept instructions to conduct transactions on your account if those instructions are in accordance with your signing authority.

You must advise us promptly of any changes in authorised signatories or third parties.

6.5.1.4 AMP adviser transaction authorities

You may authorise your AMP Financial Adviser who has access to the AMP Cash Management Service ('ACMS') to use this service to transact and operate your account on your behalf. You can decide the level of access that your adviser can have.

To set up an ACMS adviser transaction authority, contact your AMP Financial Adviser. You must provide the authority using an ACMS Adviser Transaction Authority form which is available through your adviser.

Your adviser may delegate their adviser transaction authority to their staff (including their employees, agents, and contractors). Delegates will be managed in accordance with our delegate procedures. The conditions that apply to ACMS adviser transaction authorities are included on the ACMS Adviser Transaction Authority form.

You may revoke or amend this authority at any time by notifying us. You must advise us promptly if you wish to change your ACMS adviser's transaction authority.

6.6 Getting information about your account - account statements

We will provide an account statement at least every six months. At your request we will provide statements more frequently.

For joint account holders, statements will be sent to all account holders unless you request otherwise.

For all other accounts you may choose to receive statements electronically (online). If you do, we will not send you paper statements. We will notify you by email when your statement is available to view online. You must have a valid email address and access to internet banking to receive online statements.

All transactions are listed on your statement in the currency of the transaction and the Australian dollar equivalent.

You should always check the entries on your account statement carefully and report any error or unauthorised transactions to us as soon as you become aware of it. Please contact us on 13 30 30 if you have any questions about transaction shown on your account statement. Condition 9.4 Complaints provides details on how you may lodge a complaint about your statement or transactions on your account.

All the statements for your account can be viewed through internet banking and downloaded for printing. A fee may be charged if you request duplicate copies of paper statements.

For term deposits, an account confirmation will be provided either by letter or electronically after opening, and after we pay interest at any time during the term.

6.7 Fees and charges on your account

6.7.1 Standard fees and charges, and fees and charges for special services

Standard fees and charges may apply when you make inquiries or transact on your account. Fees and charges for special services may apply if we provide special services at any time.

Full details of the fees and charges (including any government charges) that apply to deposit accounts and for special services are set out in the Deposit products fees and charges guide available, on request and free of charge, by contacting us on 13 30 30, or from our website at amp.com.au/bankterms. We may change the applicable fees and charges in accordance with condition 8.4.1 What happens if we vary these terms and conditions?. For information about notice we will give you, see condition 8.4.1 What happens if we vary these terms and conditions?.

Special services include, but are not limited to:

- undertaking a transaction trace or verification
- dishonouring an electronic transaction made from your account or when a cheque deposited to your account is dishonoured
- processing a domestic (SWIFT) or overseas telegraphic transfer
- providing a bank audit certificate.

You must pay us all fees and charges applicable on your account, and you must also pay any fees and charges applicable for special services, even if they are incurred by another account holder or account signatory.

When you or an authorised signatory or an authorised third party operate your account or request a special service, you automatically authorise us to debit any applicable fees to your account.

7 Closing your account

7.1 Who can request that an account be closed, and what happens?

7.1.1 When you ask us to close your account

We will close an account when you ask us to by:

- writing to us
- calling us on 13 30 30
- sending us a secure message through My AMP (where your account signing authority is 'any to sign')
- contacting us by electronic communication (where you have opted in)
- by any other contact method we agree to.

Your request to close your account must be made in accordance with your account signing authority.

You are liable for all transactions initiated before we close your account.

Monthly fees may apply even though your account has only been open for part of a calendar month.

If there are uncleared funds or outstanding debit card holds in your account when you ask us to close the account, we will not close the account until the funds or holds are cleared. You must ensure that you have sufficient funds in your account to ensure these holds are cleared.

7.1.2 Closing your term deposit before it matures

You may request an early withdrawal from your term deposit (ie to close your term deposit before the maturity date). See condition 7.2.4 Early withdrawals from your term deposit for details of what happens when you do so.

7.1.3 When we may close your account

7.1.3.1 When we may close an account

We may close your account at any time. We will give you reasonable notice. We will act fairly and reasonably if we do this.

7.1.3.2 We may close your account without giving you notice

We may close your account without giving you prior notice for the following reasons:

- your account is dormant (ie no deposits or withdrawals are made by you) for six months and has a nil or negative balance for a minimum of six months
- we cannot identify you and/or verify your identity, or the identity of any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, at time of onboarding or at any time throughout the life of the customer relationship, to our satisfaction
- it appears to us that you or any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided:
  - may be a proscribed person under the Charter of the United Nations Act 1945 (Cth)
  - may be in breach of the laws of any jurisdiction relating to money laundering or terrorism financing
  - appear in a list of persons with whom dealings are proscribed by the government or a regulatory authority of any jurisdiction

- where your account is designed for domestic or personal use by you as a personal customer and is being used for business purposes
- we are required to do so by court order or by law
- we are required to do so to comply with any direction or instruction from a government body or agency, such as the Australian Taxation Office, Australian Federal Police or ASIC
- we reasonably consider necessary, for example to comply with any laws in Australia or overseas, card scheme rules or to manage any risk
- we believe your account is being used fraudulently or in a way that might cause you or us to lose money;
- you, or any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, have conducted your account in a manner we reasonably consider is unsatisfactory, inappropriate, or inconsistent with these terms and conditions
- we suspect a breach of law involving your account
- you haven't provided an initial deposit and have a zero balance after 90 days of opening your account
- we believe on reasonable grounds that you, or any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, may be a person, or acting for a person, we are not permitted to deal with by law, or as directed by a regulatory authority
- we believe on reasonable grounds that you made incomplete or incorrect declarations in your application, or at any time throughout the life of the customer relationship, regarding any of the following:
  - your reason for opening an account
  - the source of funds for your account
  - the nature and purpose for your account
- if we reasonably suspect that you, or any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, are residing in a higher risk jurisdiction. We may also suspend your account and all access methods, while you, or any connected party, any signatory on your account or any person to whom access to your account has been provided, are in a higher risk jurisdiction.

We may close your account without giving you prior notice if we determine at any time that you intend to use or are using your account to:

- operate and/or support a domestic or international funds remittance arrangement, business or service
- trade in or to support trading in cryptocurrencies or digital currency
- operate as a shell bank or operate with another institution that is dealing as a shell bank.

We may also choose to combine any accounts you have with us as part of any closure actions we take. See condition 7.4 *When we may combine your accounts for details about us combining accounts.

7.2 Your options when your term deposit matures

7.2.1 Before your term deposit maturity date

We will contact you in writing before your term deposit's maturity date.

We will include details of:

- the instructions you gave us as to how your funds and interest are to be dealt with at maturity
- the term
- the maturity date
- the interest rate

- the principal balance
- the gross interest accrued
- the net interest payable at maturity
- the total balance payable at maturity
- details of any new term deposit, subject to your maturity instructions.

7.2.2 Payment of deposit and interest

When you apply for your term deposit, you must also instruct us about the actions to take when your term deposit matures.

You may change your instructions at any time, however if you wish to change your nominated account, you may need to provide us with evidence of ownership of the new account you're nominating.

When your term deposit matures, you can instruct us to:

- reinvest the principal and interest due at maturity for another term (available for terms less than or equal to one year)
- reinvest the principal only for another term, and have the interest due at maturity paid to you
- pay the principal plus interest due at maturity into your nominated account or to you by bank cheque (Please note AMP Bank will stop issuing bank cheques effective 11 May 2024).

For example:

- if your last instruction is to reinvest the principal and interest for three months, we will reinvest the principal and any interest due at maturity for a new three-month term.
- if your last instruction was to reinvest the principal only for three months, and pay interest due at maturity to your nominated account, then we will reinvest the principal for a new three-month term, and pay any interest due at maturity to your nominated account.

If you have not nominated an account, the principal and interest due at maturity may be sent to you by bank cheque at the address we have on our records, however this method of payment will only be available until 11 May 2024. After this date, we will deposit the funds into an alternative active AMP Bank account in your name, or we will make reasonable attempts to contact you to obtain your nominated bank account details. If we are unsuccessful in contacting you, we will hold the money on your behalf.

We will pay the principal and interest to you, the account holder, only.

If your term deposit is reinvested for another term, you may be paid a different interest rate than the rate that applied for the expiring term.

For information about current interest rates and available terms at any time, go to amp.com.au.

7.2.3 Term deposit maturity requests

If we receive your term deposit maturity request (including any change to your maturity instructions) by 2.30pm (Sydney time), and you contact us by electronic communication, by phone or by mail, or if you contact us through internet banking, we will act on your request on that business day, subject to any errors, difficulties, or faults in providing the service.

If your term deposit maturity request is received on a non-business day or after 2.30pm (Sydney time) on a business day, your term deposit maturity request will be completed on the next business day, subject to any errors, difficulties, or faults in providing the service.

We will not be liable for any losses to you associated with a delay in us acting on your maturity instructions, where that delay is caused by your failure to meet the cut-off deadlines outlined above, or through your errors or inaccuracies in the instructions you provide to us.

7.2.3.1 Changing your term and interest frequency when reinvesting

When your term deposit matures, if you reinvest your principal only, or your principal plus interest, for another term, you may:

- change to a different (length of) term
- if the new term is 12 months or more, change the payment frequency for interim interest.

7.2.3.2 Adding or withdrawing funds at maturity

When your term deposit matures, if you intend to reinvest for a further term, you can:

- deposit an additional amount (up to the maximum balance amount)
- withdraw any amount, (subject to the minimum remaining balance being $5,000, unless we agree otherwise).

Deposits of additional amounts to or withdrawals from your term deposit can only be made at the end of the term, and before we complete the reinvestment of the funds in accordance with your instructions. Funds for any additional deposit must be available to us on the date of maturity of your term deposit, otherwise they will not be added for the new term.

7.2.4 Early withdrawals from your term deposit

You may request a full or partial withdrawal from your term deposit before the maturity date, subject to you providing at least 31 days' notice. If the time remaining before the maturity date is 31 days or less, you cannot withdraw before the maturity date, except in the situation below.

31 days' notice for early withdrawal is not required:

- where your request is due to financial hardship (see condition 9.3 – When times are tough for more information)
- for one month term deposits
- for withdrawals within the first seven days of any term.

If you believe that, at some time in the future, you may need to withdraw or transfer funds from a term deposit without notice (e.g. you need the funds for a deposit on a property or to make some other purchase), other deposit products will be more suitable.

Where 31 days' notice is required, if the time remaining before the maturity date is 31 days or less, you cannot withdraw before the maturity date.

You must request an early withdrawal:

- in writing
- via BankAssist
- by electronic communication.

Your early withdrawal request must be made in accordance with your account signing authority.

We must receive your early withdrawal request before 2.30pm (Sydney time) on a business day to process it on the same business day. Requests received after 2.30pm (Sydney time) will be processed on the next business day. The full or partial withdrawal will be processed on the next business day after the expiry of the notice period nominated by you (a minimum of 31 days' notice is required).

Any principal amount from the early withdrawal (and any interest due) will be paid:

- into an account nominated by you; or
- to you by bank cheque. Please note that we will stop issuing bank cheques on and from 11 May 2024.

7.2.4.1 Interest rate adjustments for early withdrawal

When we process an early withdrawal from your term deposit, the interest rate will be adjusted based on the proportion of the original term elapsed on the date of the early withdrawal. The amount of interest rate adjustment applied for early withdrawals from term deposits may vary from time to time.

For information regarding the current interest rate adjustments, please refer to the Deposit products fees and charges guide, available on our website at amp.com.au/bankterms or by calling us on 13 30 30.

No interest rate adjustment will be applied where an early withdrawal is requested because of the death of an account holder.

Any part of the original principal balance remaining after a partial withdrawal will continue to earn interest at the original rate for the remainder of the term and under the same terms and conditions which applied at the time the original deposit was made.

If interim interest has already been paid (at the original interest rate) and all or part of the term deposit is withdrawn before maturity, we may recover all or part of the interim interest from you by reducing the total amount paid to you after the early withdrawal is processed. This may mean that the amount is less than the full principal of your term deposit.

For any early withdrawal requested, when applying the interest rate adjustment, if the calculation of the applied interest rate adjustment results in more than two decimal places, the applied interest rate adjustment will be rounded down to two decimal places, which is in your favour. Where the calculation of the applied interest rate adjustment results in two decimal places or less, no rounding is applied.

Example:

This example illustrates how the interest payable is calculated and when the applied interest rate adjustment is more than two decimal places. The applied interest rate adjustment is always rounded down to two decimal places, which is in your favour.

For example, and for illustrative purposes only, you invest $300,000.00 in an AMP Bank Term Deposit on 13 April 2023 for eleven months (330 days) at an interest rate of 3.85% pa.

On 28 April 2023 (15 days later) AMP Bank receives notice from you requesting an early withdrawal in 31 days. The withdrawal date is set as 29 May 2023, meaning the actual term will be 46 days.

Step 1 : Calculating the portion of the original term completed

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Portion of the original term completed} &= \frac{\text{Number of days deposited}}{\text{Number of days in the term}} \times 100\% \\ &= \frac{46 \text{ (i.e. } 15 + 31) \text{ days}}{330 \text{ days}} \times 100\% \\ &= 0.1394 \text{ (13.94\%)} \end{aligned}$$

As the portion of the original term completed is 13.94% which is less than 20% of the term, a 90% interest rate adjustment is applied to the original interest rate of 3.85% pa in accordance with clause 1.6 of the Deposit Products Fees and Charges Guide.

Step 2: Applying the interest rate adjustment

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Applied interest rate adjustment} &= \text{Interest rate adjustment} \times \text{Original interest rate} \\ &= 90\% \times 3.85\% \text{ pa} = 3.46\% \text{ pa (3.465\% pa, rounding down to two decimal places which is in your favour)} \end{aligned}$$

Step 3: Calculating the interest you have earned based on the original rate

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Interest you have earned based on the original rate} &= \text{Early withdrawal amount} \times \text{Original interest rate} \times (\text{Number of days deposited})/365 \\ &= $300,000 \times 3.85\% \text{ pa} \times 46/365 \end{aligned}$$

= $1,455.62

Step 4: Calculating the interest adjustment

Interest adjustment = Early withdrawal amount x Applied interest rate adjustment x (Number of days deposited)/365

= $300,000 x 3.46% pa x 46/365

= $1,308.16

Step 5: Calculating interest payable after the interest adjustment

Interest payable = Interest you have earned based on the original rate – Interest adjustment

= $1,455.62 – $1,308.16 = $147.46

Together with the $300,000 withdrawal amount, you are paid $147.46 interest on the early withdrawal date of 29 May 2023.

The example above is indicative only and uses rates and figures AMP Bank has selected to demonstrate how an AMP Bank Term Deposit operates. Actual interest rates vary from time to time. The calculations include rounding of decimal places as detailed above and assume all dates are business days.

7.3 Payment for credit balances or debit balances of closed accounts

If your account is closed and there is a credit balance, we will pay you an amount equal to:

- the credit balance
  - plus
- credit interest accrued but not paid by us
  - less
- any government duties, taxes, or other government charges payable by you
  - less
- any reasonable fees and charges incurred by your account up to and including the day we close your account, including our reasonable costs incurred by us in closing your account.

We will pay this amount to you by any means we deem appropriate, acting reasonably. We will only be able to do this if we have your current bank account details, or if we have been able to contact you to obtain your current details. We will make reasonable attempts to contact you.

If your account is closed and there is a debit balance, you must immediately pay us an amount equal to;

- the debit balance
  - plus
- debit interest accrued but not charged by us
  - plus
- any government duties, taxes, and other government charges payable by you
  - plus
- any reasonable fees and charges incurred by your account up to and including the day we close your account, including our reasonable costs incurred by us in closing your account.

7.4 When we may combine your accounts

To clear any unauthorised debit balance in an account held in your name, we may transfer sufficient funds from another account (or from a loan account) held in your name (that is, we may 'combine' your accounts) where we reasonably consider that it is in our legitimate interests to do so.

We will give you notice after we have combined any of your accounts.

We will not combine your accounts if:

- we know the accounts or loan accounts are not held by you in the same capacity (for example, where you have a personal account and an account as a trustee)
- your debt to us arises from some business or activity other than banking
- we specifically agreed to keep your accounts and loan accounts separate, or if we deem that your dealings with us suggest such an agreement
- we are prevented from doing so by a code of conduct or law.

If we do combine your account:

- we will not include any loan account that is a limited recourse borrowing arrangement (ie a loan to an SMSF) in any action to combine accounts
- we will comply with any applicable requirements of the Code of Operation: Recovery of debts from Services Australia income support payments or Department of Veterans' Affairs Payments.

We do not have to combine an overdrawn account with an account that is in credit or a loan account that has available redraw to cover withdrawals already initiated on your account, unless we have agreed to such an arrangement.

We do not have to combine an account that is in credit with a loan account to cover loan arrears, unless we have agreed to such an arrangement.

If we do combine two or more of your accounts, acting reasonably and in accordance with our legitimate interests, we may also close any of your accounts and/or switch any of your remaining accounts into a different account type.

7.5 Unclaimed monies

We are required by law to forward the credit balance of your account, (less any fees and charges that may be owing by you) to the Australian Government as Unclaimed Money if you have not transacted on ('operated') your account for seven years or more, unless:

- the credit balance of the account is below the threshold set by the government from time to time
- a hold has been placed on your account by an order of a court of law, or if any other restriction by law prevents us from accepting deposits or withdrawals from your account
- your account is held:
  - as security for a loan or other financial obligation
  - for set-off or account combination purposes, or for a loan or another financial obligation
  - in escrow for a contract
- you tell us that you want to treat the account as active.

If any hold imposed on your account is lifted and then you do not operate the account for seven years from that date, we may forward the balance to the Australian government as Unclaimed Money.

If your funds have been transferred to the Australian Government, you may submit a claim for the funds to be returned to you. Fees may apply for the processing of your request for the return of any Unclaimed Money.

Please contact us on 13 30 30 for details of how to make a claim.

Subject to this we will tell you about any changes in writing (including by email), we may do this by publishing notices of the changes on our website, or by placing a notice in a national newspaper.

For changes to interest rates we will tell you about the change no later than the date of the change unless we are not able to because the interest rate is calculated according to a money market or some other external reference rate, or a rate otherwise designated as a variable or floating rate.

Except for changes to interest rates, if a change is unfavourable to you, we will give you reasonable notice of the change, generally at least 30 days' notice.

We may give you a shorter notice period for changes that are not unfavourable to you. We may also give you a shorter notice period, or no notice, of an unfavourable change if:

- it is reasonably necessary for us to manage a material and immediate risk

In that case, we will tell you either by email or mail or an advertisement in a national or local newspaper by the day the new charge takes effect. We are authorised to collect your TFN under the Taxation Administration Act 1953. Your TFN will be kept private and confidential at all times. The collection and use of TFNs are strictly regulated by tax laws and the Privacy Act.

We collect your TFN to determine if we must withhold any amount from interest we pay to you on your account.

You are not obliged to provide your TFN however if you do not provide us with your TFN, or information regarding your exemption status, we are required to deduct withholding tax at the highest marginal tax rate plus Medicare levy from any interest paid on your account. If withholding tax is deducted from an interest amount payable to you on your account, depending on your tax residency status, you may be entitled to claim this back when you lodge your Australian tax return.

If we deduct withholding tax, within 14 days of a financial year end we will provide you with a statement that summarises the interest payments from which withholding tax was deducted, and the amount of tax deducted.

If you have given us your TFN or information regarding your exemption status, we do not deduct tax from the interest payable on your account.

We also collect TFN information because we must disclose your TFN to a superannuation fund or other account provider if you transfer the balance of your account to that superannuation fund or other account provider.

If more than one person holds the account, the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) requires at least two TFNs (or exemption details) from those persons to be provided. If these are not provided, we are required to deduct withholding tax at the highest marginal tax rate plus Medicare levy from any interest payable on your account.

If a formal trust is established and the account is held in a trust name, the trustee may quote the TFN of the trust.

Some people are exempt from providing their TFN. They may include:

- pensioners
- children under 16 whose interest income is less than the amount specified by the Australian Taxation Office
- religious and voluntary organisations that are exempt from tax.

Contact the Australian Taxation Office for more information relating to whether or not you are tax exempt from withholding tax.

9.6.2 If you are not a resident in Australia

If you are not resident in Australia, we are obliged by law to deduct non-resident withholding tax from any interest payable on your account.
